Editorial Members

Editorial Commissioners are bound by the following principles:

- i) They do not consider complaints relating to titles over which they exercise editorial control.
- ii) They do not consider complaints relating to titles with which they have close links (e.g. sister titles).
- iii) If they report to an Editor-in-Chief, they will not consider complaints against any titles under that executive's control.

The Commission publishes a full list of titles in which Editorial Commissioners have an interest.
